FRESH FOOD SCHOOLS

HORTICULTURE INDUSTRY

Farming and the fresh produce sector are not what they were 30 years ago. With global food demand forecast to increase 60% by 2060, the opportunity for young people to play a part in the world's food bowl is very real.

There are jobs available now, and with the drive for industry growth, there will be more jobs. The future is exciting, and we want to share that excitement with the next generation.

OUR PROGRAM

One of our team members will visit your school armed with fresh produce from our farm "Velisha Farms" in Werribee South. Designed specifically for the Highland LLEN, this is a unique opportunity for students to learn more about where food comes from.

Our aim is to increase exposure and awareness of where food comes from, supply chains and promotion of the diversity of career opportunities in the horticulture sector.

We provide activity programs which include our farm and facility video tour, discussions about plant life cycles, sustainability, quality control, tasting activities and information about the types of job roles needed for the farm. A full sensory experience that links to curriculum in schools and promotes the enjoyment of eating fresh produce.

Not only is it a fun and a hugely memorable time, there are also constant opportunities for students to expand their own individual tacit knowledge crucial to higher level learning and problem-solving skills.
